With a brilliant free Bootstrap coming soon page, any webmaster can inform their future visitor about the under construction websites. Count comes up with that solution to make the page for the audience while they're waiting in patience.

About Count

This is a free coming soon HTML template you can count on. The design is sublime and the features are top of the line. Again, the lovely typography on a dark theme put the template on the peak of high-end free HTML templates. Correspondingly, Count is an exemplary choice for business, startup, and personal websites. Not to mention that it looks splendid on a myriad of devices. Since it's responsive and retina-ready, the quality of the visuals remains same across multiple platforms.

Support

An impressive preloader at the start simply gives the coming soon website template a ravishing look. Set your launch time on countdown timer and some text to the juxtaposed section. Similarly, the social media icons with hover effects stay on the right vertically. In addition to the basic model, the under construction HTML pages diversify among three demo variants. The first one comes with a static background where you can set an outstanding background. While you can place a gorgeous slideshow on the second one, the last demo brings a particle background.

Notify people via email is a wise choice, as a matter of fact. The email subscription box will do that job for you. Moreover, a full page comes out of the box if you just click on the burger menu. You can add company description, address, social profiles, and other info to this specialty page. Besides the design, you'll surely love the technology the template made with. Apart from HTML5 and CSS3, there are hundreds of icons from Font Awesome. And, the lovely fonts like Domine and Metropolis helped the typography to be more stylish. Slick Slider, Final Countdown, Particles, and there are more plugins that adds to the template better strength.
